

ABSTRACT

A liner for a sputtering chamber is provided. The liner is adapted to reduce spalling of sputtered coating (overcoat) from interior surfaces of the chamber. The liner can be mounted adjacent a selected interior surface of the chamber. The liner is preferably removable. Also provided are sputtering chambers in which the present liners are mounted, and sputtering methods wherein the present liners are used.

#2953654\1